ClimaCell Liners protect what's perishable.

They offer high performance protection for meal-kits, frozen foods, temperature sensitive medical treatments, or any small parcel shipment that requires insulation. ClimaCell also helps protect the planet by offering an alternative to expanded polystyrene foam, often known as Styrofoam®, for perishable shipments.

BETTER FOR THE ENVIRONMENT.

Renewable Inputs

Corn starch and paper make up 90% of the material in an average ClimaCell panel.

Reduced Emissions

We estimate that ClimaCell reduces CO₂e emissions by 30-40% compared to EPS.

End of Life

Our liners were designed to be recycled in one simple step: put them in the recycling bin with the outer box.

✓ Recyclability

ClimaCell liners are designed to be easily collected and sorted, and they provide useful fiber in the making of new paper products.

ClimaCell liners are flat, bow'n, and rigid. They will glide over star screens in a MRF, just like cardboard. How2Recycle has given ClimaCell liners the "Widely Recyclable" Paper Insert label.

ClimaCell liners comply with corrugated recycling guidelines established by the American Forest & Paper Association. They are certified repulpable by Western Michigan University, according to testing protocols laid out by the Fibre Box Association.

✓ Credentials

Recyclability is complicated. That's why we stay on top of the industry and are members of:

FAQs

Q.

Are ClimaCell liners compostable?

No. Based on existing infrastructure and consumer behavior, we designed ClimaCell to be recyclable, as the best path to keep it out of landfills.

Q.

What's in ClimaCell?

ClimaCell liners are made of 90% paper and corn starch. The remainder are non-toxic additives that assure shipments are kept cold and protected for the duration of their journey to your house.

Q.

What if my locality says it can't accept ClimaCell for recycling?

Since ClimaCell is a new material, some waste collection and recycling organizations don't recognize it. Please send us a note at info@temperpack.com and we'd love to talk to them.
